TBH Information

The Gates of Repentance are open.

Rosh Hashanah is about reuniting; reuniting with our community, our God and ourselves.

We are a better community when everyone feels welcomed.

Now is the time to invite those who don't even know they need to be invited.

A wonderful introduction to our congregation is a video put together by one of our newest members, Levi Govoni. You can find it on our website, tbhsw.org.

Best wishes for a happy and healthy new year,

5 Rabbi Jeff, Mindy, Ilana, Jarrett, Seth, Evan, Tal, Hanna, Naomi and Micah

- White grape juice

Paper goods can be found on the rack in the kitchen. Wine is in the fridge.

If you choose to make coffee and/or put out hot water for tea, all of the necessary supplies, i.e. sugar, coffee, tea, cream, stirrers, cups, etc. are located on the rack in the kitchen. Hot water pots can be found to the left of the sink. Please schedule everyone to arrive by 7:00 pm to set up the tables and pour the wine and grape juice. Your team is also responsible to remain after services for clean up. There is a vacuum in the kitchen if it is needed. Additionally, all garbage bags that may contain food should be tied off and thrown in the dumpster. We need your help since the janitorial service does not clean the kitchen after an Oneg.

TORAH PORTIONS

Nitzavim — Deuteronomy 29:9-30:20 — In this portion, Moses invites the entire assembly of Israel to take on the covenant. He warns them that if they sin, they will go into exile, but he also predicts that, in the future, they will repent and God will return them to the land of Israel. In some years, Nitzavim is read together with the subsequent Torah portion, Vayelech, on the same Sabbath.

Vayelech—Deuteronomy 31:1-31:30 — In this short portion, Moses commands an assembly for a public Torah reading and covenant renewal once every seven years. He then finishes writing the scroll of the Torah and has it deposited in the Holy of Holies next to the ark of the covenant.

Ha'azinu — Deuteronomy 32:1-32:52 — This Torah portion is only a single chapter long, and the majority of it consists of the Song of Moses. The Song of Moses is a prophetic oracle warning Israel about apostasy to come and the resulting wrath of God. The song looks far into the future, even envisioning the Messianic advent amid rich and frightening apocalyptic imagery. After the conclusion of the song, Moses is told to ascend Mount Nebo and overlook the Promised Land before dying.

Chol HaMo'ed Sukkot — Exodus 33:12-34:26 —This Torah portion begins with laws regarding first fruits and tithes. It goes on to discuss covenant renewal, after which Moses recites the blessings guaranteed to Israel for covenant obedience and warns of the curses for apostasy.

B'reishit — Genesis 1:1-6:8 — As we study the first week's reading from the book of Genesis, we will learn a great deal about God, but even more about ourselves. After all, this is the story of our origins. When properly understood, the story of our origin helps us find our destination.

The URJ has much more information about each week's Torah potion at http://www.reformjudaism.org/learning.

THANK YOU RABBI

Dear Rabbi Glickman & Friends at TBH,

Thank you for your generous contribution towards Isaac's summer camp at Crane Lake. He had another amazing summer there, and your scholarship is very much appreciated.

I've thought about writing this letter for many weeks, but found it difficult to express my gratitude on paper.

TBH is very important to me & my family. My father & cousin are the only family we have in CT. I rely on TBH greatly to teach my children about G-d & what it means to be Jewish. I couldn't do it without you or Crane Lake.

Both Isaac & Aliya enjoy Religious School and are looking forward to another year of learning. Many sincere thanks for all your help and generosity.

Sincerely,

Cheryl Cohen

TBH BOOK CLUB

The next book club meeting is Tuesday, October 18,7:00 pm at Carol Butler's. The book is "....Outside World, by Tova Mirvis.

.Tzippy Goldman was born for marriage. She and her mother had always assumed she'd graduate high school, be set up with the right boy, and have a beautiful wedding. But at twenty-two, Tzippy's fast approaching spinsterhood. She dreams of escape; instead, she leaves for a year in Jerusalem. There she meets—re-meets—Baruch, the son of her mother's college roommate. When Tzippy last saw him, his name was Bryan and he wore a Yankees-logo yarmulke. Now he has adopted the black hat of the ultra-orthodox, the tradition in which Tzippy was raised.

We hope you can join us!

A LETTER TO TEMPLE

I really wanted to take this moment to thank Rabbi Glickman, and the warm and wonderful community of Temple Beth Hillel. As an underemployed law graduate burdened with a mountain of student loans, and a market saturated with recent graduates all competing for the same jobs, I began to become defined by my economic circumstance. Despair crept in, and I started to question my value to the world. As a result, I have felt very alone and depressed these last couple of years. But, this community has given without ever making me feel "less than." Specifically, Temple Beth Hillel is helping me find value in myself again. Rabbi Glickman mentions in a recent film I have completed for the Temple that there is a lot of loneliness in the world, and our community is an antidote to that. I am coming to feel that sentiment to be true first hand. Working on the film with Rabbi Glickman, Mark Abrahamson and Cantor Harris. Experiencing Barb Klein's warm welcome that extended beyond a simple hello. Marty Seefer's efforts at getting what I needed for the video's production on short notice without ever having met me in person. Going to services and always getting an affectionate hug from Joyce Ben-Kiki. Collaborating with Jennifer Marvin on Social Action and feeling like we have been friends for years. Since joining TBH, I am feeling a sense of "place" and "value" that I have not felt since law school. One day, I will give back all that I have been given and more. Until that day, please know from the bottom of my heart, how grateful I am to be a part of this tremendous community. Some of you have come to know my most vulnerable side in a way very few people have seen. I go to bed every night, and I thank God for bringing me to Temple Beth Hillel. It has been like a blanket in this cold time in my life, and I am grateful for the privilege of getting to know you all.

BOARD TZEDAKAH

During the September meeting the Board of Trustees dedicated the tzedakah collection to start off this seasons Heading Off Hunger food drive and fund raising effort for Foodshare. More than 450, 000 people in Connecticut face hunger daily. Food insecurity, not knowing if you will be able to meet your nutritional needs, exists in every town, city, village and hamlet in Connecticut from the wealthiest suburbs to the most rural communities. But not everyone who needs help qualifies for federal assistance. It is estimated that 44% of those facing hunger are above the SNAP program threshold. The average cost of a meal in Connecticut is $3.06. In just Hartford and Tolland counties 137,000 cannot afford to meet their needs, and most unfortunately the majority are children and senior citizens.

Foodshare, founded in 1982 and supported by Temple Beth Hillel for the last 25 years, has a hunger free vision of the future. Hunger, a problem invisible to so many of us, is solvable. Foodshare is a regional foodbank which distributes food donations from the food industry to food pantries, kitchen, shelters and partner programs. Last year they distributed enough food for 11.5 million meals, but even that astounding amount isn't enough to end hunger. But you can help. Your donation helps Foodshare obtain and distribute more food to those agencies who work to get food to those who need it. Non-perishable food donations will be distributed to the food pantry in South Windsor and to the Kosher Food Bank.

GET INVOLVED

When I was younger, I viewed going to the synagogue as an obligation. I wasn't a Friday night or Saturday morning "regular" and I strategically planned how to limit my participation during the High Holidays. It's not that I didn't see myself as Jewish or that I didn't enjoy the holidays, I just didn't place much value on the community.

All of that has changed. I would definitely call myself a "regular," hardly ever missing a Friday night Shabbat service. Whether I'm singing the prayers, lifting the Torah, blowing the shofar, handing out honors, or doing one of the many "behind-the-scenes" duties of a board member, I get back exponentially what I put in. I look forward to catching up with the other "regulars," to seeing members who have been away for a while and to meeting new guests each week. Along the way, attendance stopped being a duty and became something special that I anticipate.

So what made the difference? I think it comes down to being open to the experience and getting involved. The Temple provides a tremendous number of opportunities to participate and make the community even stronger. Once I realized that my input and my skillset would be welcome, I was able to connect on an entirely different level.

If you look around, you'll see that there are several people who have figured that out. Some are more visible and some you'd never know. But, together, they're doing their part to make Temple Beth Hillel a strong community.

We have more ideas than we have people to help implement them. Take a look around and see where you might fit in. If you're not sure, ask.

Here's a sampling of some of the ways to get involved at Temple Beth Hillel:

Tell your friends and family about TBH (recruit new members!)

You may show up for the High Holidays wondering what benefits you'll receive this year from the Temple. But, the Holidays can be a bit overwhelming. And you may not clearly see what you'll gain from more active involvement. Don't just assume that someone else can contribute the way you can.

So during this season of reflection, ask not what your Temple can do for you, but rather, what you can do for your Temple! Through your commitments, Temple Beth Hillel will become an even stronger family and you will be amazed at how much joy will be brought into your life.
