And What A Parade!

Remember the parade from our first building on Foster Street Extension to our current building? What a blast! We carried our Torahs under a chuppa for over five miles! The shofar blasts, the police escort and the utter joy -- it was a day to remember. It is memorialized in a mural on our foyer wall.

On June 24th we will have another parade. This time, it will be from Congregation Beth Ahm in Windsor to Temple Beth Hillel in South Windsor -- a total of nine miles! You can be there for the start or for the finish. You will have an opportunity to sign up to carry a Torah for a section -- or you can join us for the full amount. Let's give a wonderful Temple Beth Hillel welcome to our new family. It is not to be missed.

B'shalom,
Rabbi G.

From the President

On June 24th, Temple Beth Hillel will be receiving a Torah from Congregation Beth Ahm. Thinking about that upcoming event, I reached into the Temple Beth Hillel archives and found an article that I wrote nine years ago when we received another Torah. I am sharing it again in hopes that it might inspire you to join our Torah Tiyl. Register for June 24th at <https://www.signupgenius.com/go/20f084badae29a4fd0-welcome> or by calling the temple office at (860-282-8466)

April 3, 2009 Receiving the Torah : First Hand Account

This past Friday night, I attended a wonderful celebration! There was a bride, a groom, a band, dancing, singing, and lots of food. Sounds like a wedding, right? Well, not quite. The bride was a Torah and the groom was a Chupah! Temple Beth Hillel received a Torah, fulfilling the last of the 613 Commandments of bringing a Torah into the community.

Thunderstorms threatened the festivities all throughout the day. At times, the rain was beating down pretty heavily. Miraculously, the sky cleared as people began gathering on the Glickman's driveway. Rabbi and Mindy Glickman offered fruit and sweet potatoes to their guests. Congregants from Temple Beth Hillel mingled with members of B'Nai Jacob, the former custodians of the Torah. Both groups were joined by Imams from local mosques, a pastor from a nearby church, members of the press, and several musicians. Andrew Halpern started banging a drum, creating an instant party atmosphere. Rabbi Glickman gave everyone a preview of what was to happen and then announced that anyone who would like to blow a shofar should go with him back to the temple.

TORAH PORTIONS

B'haalot'cha— Numbers 8:1-12:15— This portion is jam-packed, telling the story of the consecration of the Levites, the first Passover in the wilderness, the silver trumpets, the cloud of glory, the departure from Sinai, the grumbling in the wilderness, the first Sanhedrin and the punishment of Miriam.

Sh'lach —Numbers 13:1-15:41— The Torah reading tells the tragic story of how the spies returned with a bad report about the Land of Promise and influenced the congregation of Israel to rebel against the LORD. Thus God consigned the generation of Moses to wander in the wilderness for forty years.

Korach— Numbers 16:1— 18:32— This week's Torah reading tells the story of how Korah led an unsuccessful rebellion against Moses and Aaron. After thwarting the insurrection, God confirms Aaron in the priesthood and provides additional legislation regarding priestly and Levitical privileges and responsibilities.

Chukat— Numbers 19:1—22:1— This reading also contains the story of Moses striking the rock, the stories of the deaths of Aaron and Miriam and the wars with the Amorites. The portion concludes with the host of Israel encamping on the edge of the Promised Land.

Balak— Numbers 22:2—25:9— This week's Torah reading tells the story of how Balak hires the occult prophet Balaam to lay a curse on Israel. Balaam meets resistance from God, has a conversation with his donkey and ends up blessing Israel instead of cursing them.

URJ has much more information about each week's Torah portion at <http://www.reformjudaism.org/learning>.

Israeli Lunch followed by the Israeli film “The Band’s Visit”

Comedy-Drama - The eight Egyptian musicians who comprise the Alexandria Ceremonial Police Orchestra arrive by mistake in a small town in Israel's Negev Desert. Their booking set for a different city, and with no transportation out of the town or any hotels to stay at, the band settles at a restaurant owned by Dina (Ronit Elkabetz), who offers them lodging.

Overcoming ethnic barriers, the Egyptians find diversion and companionship with the Israelis through a pervading undercurrent of shared melancholy.

BOOK CLUB

The next book club meeting will be, Tuesday, June 12....The book this month is “The Working Poor, Invisible in America, by, David Shieler

As David K. Shieler makes clear in this powerful, humane study, the invisible poor are engaged in the activity most respected in American ideology—hard, honest work. But their version of the American Dream is a nightmare: low-paying, dead-end jobs; the profound failure of government to improve upon decaying housing, health care, and education; the failure of families to break the patterns of child abuse and substance abuse. Shieler exposes the interlocking problems by taking us into the sorrowful, infuriating, courageous lives of the poor—white and black, Asian and Latino, citizens and immigrants. We encounter them every day, for they do jobs essential to the American economy.

TORAH TIYAL

We will come together to WALK the Torah from the Beth Ahm Synagogue to its new home at Temple Beth Hillel! Many volunteers will be needed to carry the Torah (and the 4 poles of the Chuppah) over the 10 miles that lay between the synagogues!

Please click here for more details and to sign up to participate! You can also contact the office at 860-282-8466 or Admin@tbhsw.org to sign up.

I jogged back to the Temple with the Rabbi, went into his office and selected one of his shofars. I stood outside at the entrance to the Temple with about six other shofar blowers. Rabbi Glickman turned to me and said, "Can you start us off with a blast?"

"A Tekiah?"

"No, something regal!"

So, I blew the most regal sounding blast I could muster. Then the Rabbi shouted "Tekiah Gedolah," and Jess Edelstein produced a really long note on his shofar.

The group of us shofar blowers started walking and blowing random notes as we led the Chupah on its way to meet the Torah that was marching toward us from Rabbi's house.

When the Chupah surrounded the Torah, the Klezmer music started. The Torah was carried by members of B'Nai Jacob while the Chupah was carried by members of Temple Beth Hillel. Once we arrived in the parking lot, we all took turns holding the Chupah while we danced around the parking lot seven times, just as in a traditional wedding ceremony while the band continued to play.

After the seventh time around, the music stopped and Michael Chernick from B'Nai Jacob officially presented the Torah to his Temple Beth Hillel cousin, Lance Chernack. The Torah was handed to Stanley Goldberg who then brought it into the lobby.

The festivities continued as a big circle formed around the main hall and anyone who has had a Bar or Bat Mitzvah was invited to take a turn dancing with the Torah as the Klezmer band, with Mindy joining in on the flute, continued on. Whether they rushed to the front or waited, everyone beamed as they had their turn. Everyone clapped and smiled and laughed and hugged. It actually did feel like a wedding!

Once everyone had a chance to dance with the Torah, the music stopped, temporarily, as we all entered the sanctuary for the Shabbat service. Before the service, everyone had another chance to touch the Torah. I brought it over to my mother to let her have a chance at holding it. She was thrilled to be able to participate.

Before the Shabbat candles were lit, Lynn Goldberg, a member from B'Nai Jacob said a few words about the history of the Torah and the B'Nai Jacob congregation. Unfortunately, they were forced to merge with another congregation as a result of financial pressures.

Next there was a special ceremony where members of B'Nai Jacob undressed the Torah and members of Temple Beth Hillel re-dressed the Torah. The term that was used repeatedly was bittersweet, and it certainly was. Rabbi Glickman mentioned how wonderful it was to have people from other faiths come to help us celebrate a uniquely Jewish ceremony.

There were so many special touches during the services that I'm sure I don't remember all of them: the klezmer band, the choir, and the teenagers who sang all contributed to the mood of the memorable service. Cantor Mekler deserves credit for all of the music that made the event so special. When the Torah was taken out of the ark, the music played, and people danced in a line around the sanctuary, a tradition that has been growing at Temple Beth Hillel. And Jordan Guida did a fabulous job reading from the Torah as she became a Bat Mitzvah.

During the service, I looked around at the packed temple that looked more like a High Holiday service than a typical Friday night. Everyone just looked really happy. I saw young kids and ninety year olds celebrating the really joyous occasion, smiling as they clapped their hands and tapped their feet.

The service ended, and we entered the packed social hall for the Oneg. Kiddush, Motzi and an expanded selection of foods and goodies capped the evening as people gathered to share the experience.

I urge you to attend Shabbat services as we read from the new Torah in Temple Beth Hillel for the first time. You'll be glad you did!

Recycling Pledge Update: I've used the last of my Lysol wipes. I admit, it was a sad goodbye. They are so quick and handy, but there is little difference between them and using a cloth rag that gets tossed in the wash with everything else. I can use repeatedly – it worked for my grandmother, it should work for me. Foregoing the plastic straw has taken a bit of a learning curve. I've learned you must catch the waiter or waitress before they put the straw on the table or else that can't take it back, and I need to order without ice – yes, I did tell one waitress "the ice is too cold" (first world problems). But the water bottles! I thought that one would be the easiest for me because I have and use several reusable travel cups. But we spent the weekend in D.C. and drinkable water seems to only be available in bottles. I did find a water fountain in the hall for the school graduation but on the National Mall I couldn't get enough of them with the sun beating down – I did make sure to recycle them, but I think I could have done better. What about you? Any one ready to take a recycling pledge and share it?
